Luc Frieden

Dear fellow citizens,

For ten years, our country has been led by a blue-red-green coalition government. Unfortunately, during these long years, the situation in our country has deteriorated in terms of housing, access to healthcare and security. Taxes such as VAT, income tax and savings tax have increased under the blue-red-green coalition. Many small and medium-sized businesses are struggling. Our country has the lowest renewable energy performance in Europe. And our State runs a large deficit every year. It was right to help people and businesses during the pandemic and the energy crisis, but the structural problems were not addressed. Too many differing opinions within the blue-red-green coalition are holding the country back in areas such as tax policy, housing, and health policy. Our country needs a new dynamic.

The CSV, as the large centre right political party (member of the European People's Party), has concrete proposals for moving the country forward. The CSV is committed to more purchasing power, more affordable housing, more renewable energy, more support for young families, more security, for successful businesses, and a fairer, more effective social policy. In the interests of our country and its citizens.

It is time for change.

BIOGRAPHY OF LUC FRIEDEN

Luc Frieden was born in Esch-sur-Alzette, where he attended primary school and the Lycée des Garçons. At the age of sixteen, he moved to Luxembourg with his family and graduated from secondary school at the Athénée. Back then, already passionate about law, politics and international relations, Luc went on to study law at the universities of Paris-Sorbonne, Cambridge, and Harvard. He started working as a lawyer in 1989.

In 1994, at the age of thirty, he was elected to Parliament for the first time and, four years later, Jean-Claude Juncker appointed him Minister of Justice and Minister of Budget. From 1998 to 2013, Luc Frieden was Minister of Justice, Police, Defence and Finance in various CSV-DP and CSV-LSAP coalition governments. As Minister of Justice, he initiated a number of major societal reforms, such as the PACS and dual nationality. As Minister of Treasury and Finance, Luc Frieden was responsible for the successful development and growth of our financial centre. He played a decisive role during the 2008 financial crisis, protecting the savings of thousands of people and preventing the country from an economic and social disaster.

After his government service, Luc Frieden pursued his professional career in London, before returning to Luxembourg to become Chairman of the board of a major Luxembourg bank. From 2019, he was in addition President of the Luxembourg Chamber of Commerce, where he worked closely with industry and small and medium-sized enterprises. In 2022, he was further elected president of Eurochambres, the European federation of chambers of commerce and industry. He also practised again as a lawyer. Luc Frieden resigned from all these positions in 2023 when he became the lead candidate of the CSV for the October elections.

Luc Frieden is married with two children. In his spare time, Luc enjoys spending time with friends and family, as well as with hiking, cycling, and skiing.

10 PRIORITIES OF THE CSV

MORE PURCHASING POWER

- Inflation adjustment of the tax table in several steps.
- Broadening of tax brackets.
- Increase of the tax entry amount – also for single parents.
- No inheritance tax and no wealth tax.

MORE SUPPORT FOR YOUNG FAMILIES

- Improve the work-family balance through the right to four unpaid parental hours per week for parents of children of primary school age.
- Tax starter kit for young professionals with allowances during the first years of work.
- Development of care structures.
- Financial support for parents who do not place their children in a care structure until compulsory schooling age.

MORE HOUSING

- Build more, faster and in some places higher and denser.
- No environmental compensation measures inside the building perimeter.
- Speed up procedures through binding deadlines and by reducing the number of impact studies.
- Support private actors to invest in the construction of rental housing.

CLIMATE CHANGE AND MORE RENEWABLE ENERGY

- Yes to the EU's climate targets.
- Massive expansion of renewable energies by 2030.
- More efficient procedures for the energy transition (fast-track procedures).
- A „guichet unique“: a one-stop shop for environmental applications and permits.

A COMPETITIVE ECONOMY

- Increased support for small and medium-sized enterprises and trade craft businesses and for self-employed entrepreneurs.
- Redesign of working time organisation through social dialogue.
- Maintaining the competitiveness of the financial centre and the industry.
- Strengthening agriculture, viticulture and sustainable food production.
